Familial Hypercholesterolemia in Public Health and Clinical Practice
Housekeeping

- Participants are muted upon entering the webinar
- Type questions into the question at any time
- Webinar slides and recording will be available on the Genetic Alliance website
FH Webinar Panelists

Presenters
- Claudia N. Mikail, MD, MPH
  - Center for Preventive Care and Genetics, Woodland Hills, California and Instructor, Division of Health Policy and Management, UCLA Extension
- Joshua W. Knowles, MD, PhD
  - Stanford Center for Inherited Cardiovascular Disease and Chief Medical Advisor, The Familial Hypercholesterolemia Foundation
- Amy Sturm, MS, LGC
  - Division of Human Genetics, Wexner Medical Center at the Ohio State University
- William Neal, MD
  - Founder, The Coronary Artery Risk Detection Program in Appalachian Communities Project (CARDIAC), West Virginia

Moderator
Andrew Sardella, CGC, MPH
Public Health Planner at Region of Waterloo Public Health and Emergency Services
Objectives

- Provide examples of programs that address Familial Hypercholesterolemia (FH)
- Offer resources and tools available to facilitate support related to FH
- Provide perspectives from a variety of health care providers and patients on the importance of FH
Questions?

- Webinar panelists:
  - Claudia N. Mikail, MD, MPH
    - Center for Preventive Care and Genetics, Woodland Hills, California and Instructor, Division of Health Policy and Management, UCLA Extension
  - Joshua W. Knowles, MD, PhD
    - Stanford Center for Inherited Cardiovascular Disease and Chief Medical Advisor, The Familial Hypercholesterolemia Foundation
  - Amy Sturm, MS, LGC
    - Division of Human Genetics, Wexner Medical Center at the Ohio State University
  - William Neal, MD
    - Founder, The Coronary Artery Risk Detection Program in Appalachian Communities Project (CARDIAC), West Virginia